

FACULTY OF ARTS

EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING & INTERNSHIPS

Examples of occupations include: community development worker, community health worker, youth outreach worker, cultural worker, policy analyst, educator, therapist or counselor, human rights advocate, resource coordinator, and advocates for change and justice transformation.

SAMPLE COURSES

Applied Psychology (PSYC-3790): This Psychology course provides the necessary background for students working in applied settings in psychology. The course focuses on professional and ethical issues. Students registering for this course will be assisted in finding research opportunities in community-based organizations or serving as mentor in a supervised setting.

Criminal Justice Field Placement (CJ-3800): The Criminal Justice field placement allows students to integrate theory and practice by working in a criminal justice or human services agency. The course enables students to explore career related work experiences and build valuable professional networks. The in-class portion encourages critical thinking about criminal justice issues and reflection on the accompanying field-based education.

Writing Internship Professional Writing (RHET-3331): This Rhetoric course involves a placement with a community organization, or in some cases, University partners that need students' writing expertise. The goals of the internship are to help students learn how to write for audiences outside of the academy, to learn ethical guidelines for writing with community and university partners, and to learn practical skills relating to the production of a range of texts.

MORE SAMPLE COURSES

Inner-City Work/Study
Conflict Resolution Studies Practicum
Practicum in Human Rights

Practicum
Community Advocacy Internship
Practicum in Curatorial Studies

Topics in Leadership in Early Childhood Care and Education
Applied Child Development
Introduction to Producing for Film

These courses are offered across a wide variety of Arts departments. There is a comprehensive list of courses with experiential and work-integrated learning components available on the UWinnipeg Experiential Learning website here: <https://www.uwinnipeg.ca/experiential-learning/courses->